Council Strives To End All-Day Parker Problem

Steps towards thinning the long lines of all-day parkers on each side of streets in the residence zone on the edges of the commercial district were taken last night when the city council began work on an ordinance which will require off-street parking for business district tenants and employees.

At present, under an interim ordinance, such parking is required for all new business developments. The interim law expires on February 5, 1965, and the council last night decided to make a valiant effort to have the permanent law completed by this date or soon thereafter.

This decision came after three hours' consideration; then adoption, of a report on the all-day parker problem by a joint committee of the council and planning commission.

The committee was appointed to study this problem because the council recognized that recent office and shop developments, also increased limited time parking, in the business zone have forced all-day parkers into the residence district to the detriment of the residential areas.

Last night, the council unanimously voted that the report, as they had amended it, be referred to City Attorney John Morse for the purpose of preparing an ordinance in consultation with the council's committee on administration. During these consultations, two recommendations of the report will be studied. The first recommendation proposes possible realignment of the central business district (C-1-C zone) to make it conform more exactly to the areas with the heaviest density of retail businesses, also pedestrian use of sidewalks. The report calls this the "core" area.

The second recommendation to be developed in the consultations is the establishment of a formula for "in lieu" payments for off-site parking by those businesses either prohibited from, or unable to, provide on-site tenant-employee parking.

Decided last night was: (1)

MEETING ON ANNEXATION

Tonight, 7:30 o'clock in city hall, Carmel planning commissioners will hold a special meeting to consider a report by the commission's planning and conservation committee on the annexation to Carmel of the Mission Fields, Walker, Rio Way and Mission tracts, certain lots in Hatton Fields and Carmel Point.

Annexation petitions have been received by the city council from each of these areas. The council referred the requests to the planning commission for study, a necessary step in the annexation procedure.

The commission must present to the council, within 40 days, their findings and recommendations, pro and con, on the annexation of the above areas.

Editor's Column

Last week the Pine Cone had a story showing that in 1924 the Carmel tax rate was one dollar on each $100 assessed property valuation. This year, the tax rate is $1.06, only six cents higher than it was 40 years ago. Considering the difference in the value of the dollar, tax or any otherwise, this is rather surprising.

What has kept Carmel's tax rate approximately equal to that of 40 years ago when a dollar was worth much, much more is the growth of the business district.

Each business is required to buy an annual license in accordance with its gross receipts. In addition, each business pays a sales tax to the city. During the fiscal year which ended on June 30, this sales tax amounted to $180,000.

The city's income from property taxes amounted during the same period to $181,000, just $1,000 more than the sales tax income.

In addition, City Clerk Hugh Bayless estimates another $135,000 of the city's income last year was directly attributable to businesses operated in Carmel. This brings to total direct income to the city of $315,000 from its businesses last year.

The preamble to the city's municipal code, states that Carmel is to be primarily, essentially and predominately a city wherein business and commerce is, and shall be, subordinated to its residential character. And that's the way most Carmelites want it to be now—and forever.

But all Carmelites should also realize they owe a debt to the businesses of the city... a debt of monetary value. Only because businesses thrive here is our tax rate just about what it was in 1924, also the lowest on the Peninsula.

Carmel's businesses put cash in the city's pockets and protect (Continued on Page Eighteen)

I guess I've failed in life's rich race, although I've traveled far. I must admit — to my disgrace — I've never rolled my car. My muffler never makes a roar; I'm never chased by cops; my cylinders are standard bore, I stop at all the stops.

I'm just a square who isn't hep — can't even do the swim. In times like these I'm out of step, my bulbs are burning dim. My pants won't fit my skinny cals, my chin can boast no beard; my frail physique is just for laughs — I'm strictly from the weird.

I always paid for what I got, and worked to get the dough. I wonder if I've lived or not, and muffed my status quo. I've missed the boat — I haven't yet deserved what must be due — the penalty I didn't get for what I didn't do.

Take heed: the sins you fail to do may violate your rights to be so wrong, and thus accrue to some day haunt your nights!

School Board Will Ask Citizens To Improve Curricula

An appeal to interested citizens for help in developing curricula that will meet the education requirements and demands of parents and citizens in the Carmel Unified School District will be made, the district's trustees agreed last night.

They devoted considerable time to discussion of this proposal and finally decided to appoint a citizens committee to set up ways and means of improving the district's curricula although no criticism of present instruction is ap- (Continued on Page Four)

SHOPPING CENTER

Sam Smith, president of Carmel Rancho Inc., the organization which developed and operates the shopping center at the entrance to Carmel Valley, this morning said he had "no comment" to make on a report that the shopping center has been acquired by Havic Corporation, an investment and development firm which owns La Playa Hotel.

NOON, NOON and SNOW reads a poster on San Carlos Street. Closer observation reveals that Noon, Noon and Snow is limited (but not much) and will be at Sunset, 8 p.m., Saturday. Noon at Sunset? Snow on Saturday? All at 8 p.m.? Not too much limited? Doesn't seem to make sense, does it?

But to the three young people pictured above it makes a great deal of sense. They are Noon, Noon and Snow.

Supervisor Tells Trustees Crossing Guard Is 'Dead End'

The crossing guard situation at the Atherton Drive and Highway One intersection appears to have the Carmel Unified School District Board of Education stymied.

Last night, Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson told the board that the state legislature has made it impossible to legalize a crossing guard on a major highway unless the guard is appointed and maintained by the California Highway Patrol. Even this, he added, is under some shadow of doubt because of legislation passed during the last session of the state senate which does not allow highway tax money to be used for crossing guards.

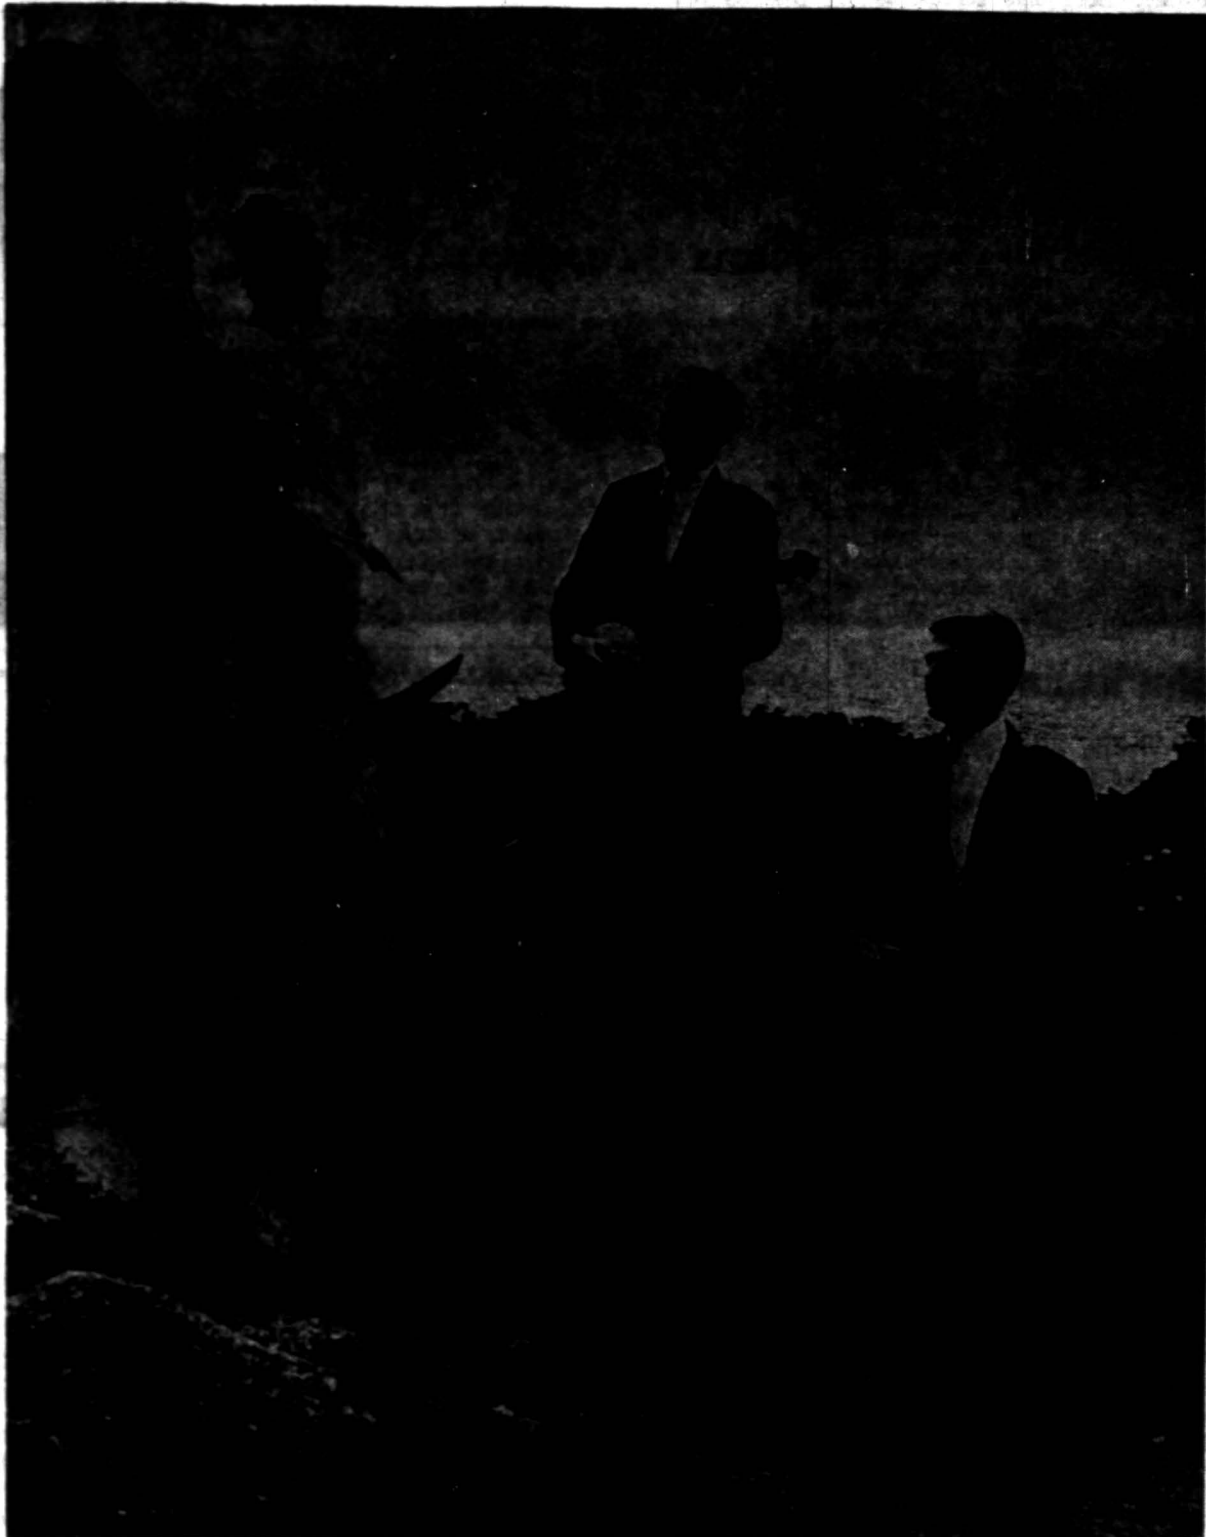

Legally, emphasized Mr. Hudson, the board had reached a dead end. It appeared to him that the ultimate solution—or no solution—to the crossing guard situation will probably be that parents of children living in Hatton Fields Mesa will have to provide private transportation across Highway One, or for the board to authorize money for school buses for the children in this area who at- (Continued on Page Four)

At left is Nancy Noon, singer and former University of Washington campus queen. Next to her is her brother, Mike, a banjoist recently discharged from Army service at Fort Ord. At right is Kit Snow, Carmel singer and guitarist. This summer they formed a trio to perform light-hearted satirical music. Mike has written most of their repertoire which is a departure from folk singing and starts a new trend in music, they claim.

Saturday night they will give a two-hour concert. None of them is inexperienced. Nancy sang in college musicals. Mike had his own group in Washington before he entered the Army and has performed for the past year and a half at a Peninsula night club. Kit has traveled all over the United States singing and playing his guitar at nightclubs, also given several concerts.

As a group, "Noon, Noon and Snow Ltd. (but not much)," Nancy, Mike and Kit gave their first public performance this summer at the Forest Theater at a free performance sponsored by the Carmel Arts Commission.

Saturday night, Dave Bennett, local disc jockey will be master of ceremonies for their professional debut. Tickets will be $2.00.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Fire Prevention Week, which begins on Sunday and continues through October 10, should take on a significant new meaning to all the people of California since it follows so closely the tragic fires that have been sweeping across vast watersheds, fertile valleys and engulfing homes in recent weeks. Ways and means of fire prevention should be of extreme interest to the residents of canyons, mountains and along the vastly beautiful coastal country that surrounds Big Sur, Palo Colorado Canyon, Sycamore Canyon, Partington Ridge and other areas.

Art Martell, fire prevention officer of the U.S. Forest Service stationed at the Big Sur Guard Station, has scheduled a series of talks and demonstrations on fire prevention and what to do if disaster strikes. Tuesday morning, Mr. Martell will talk to the assembled students at Palo Colorado School and in the afternoon will repeat the talk at Captain Cooper School. At the close of the sessions, each school member will be given a check and work sheet to be taken home and carefully, and thoughtfully, completed. As part of their individual fire prevention program, each boy and girl is asked to check their home, garage, garden areas, for materials or conditions that might cause fire or that might be a hazard to themselves or others. With the assistance of their parents, they will be asked to correct these conditions, and report the work they have completed on the check sheet, and return the information to school the following day. Wednesday afternoon, at Captain Cooper School, Big Sur, there will be further demonstrations of fire prevention, which will be concluded by a very interesting and highly important piece of equipment which will arrive on the school grounds.

All members of families living in the coastal communities are invited to the big night at the U.S. Forest Service Station at Big Sur on Wednesday, from 7:00-10:00 p.m. where a well-planned and highly informative program has been arranged.

Stephen Goetz, foreman of the fire crew at the Big Sur Guard station, together with all members of the crew, will take part in demonstrations of fire prevention, suppression and containment. There will be three separate demonstrations of the crew in action, handling actual fires. For the occasion, a U.S. Forest Service helicopter will be flown in from its base at Arroyo Seco Guard Station and will be in the parking area in front of the Big Sur station. The Sheriff's Rescue Unit, the California Highway Patrol and Division of Highways, the Big Sur Red Cross ambulance, together with members of these public agencies will all be present for this annual program. Announcing the "Big Night At The United States Forest Service," Sue Clarabut, wife of Noel Clarabut, highway patrol officer, prepared a colorful, hand-lettered poster which is being widely distributed throughout the community and to the schools. It says:

GRAM COULD BE CANCELLED

EMILE NORMAN EXHIBIT

Emile Norman, Big Sur artist, is pictured in a striking photograph, the work of world-known, Canadian portrait photographer, Yousuf Karsh, in a handsome brochure announcing a one-man of the famous sculptor's work which opens this week-end in Los Angeles. Sunday there will be an invitational preview of the Art of Emile Norman at the Adele Bednarz Galleries, 902 North La Cienega Boulevard, Los Angeles. The exhibit will continue through October 28 and will include many of the artist's more recent works. In describing the forthcoming show which coincides with the formal opening of the galleries, the announcement speaks of Mr. Norman's work as "Readily conveying its form and content to the viewer... here, at last, one finds joy and delight, elegance and grace, all the mysterious feelings that mankind throughout past centuries, but which have been almost completely disregarded in our time."

Curator of the galleries, Adele Bednarz, presented an exhibit of Mr. Norman's work in Beverly Hills three years ago when she was associated with the Feingarten Galleries. Prior to that Miss Bednarz had a gallery at the Palmer House, Chicago, and another in Ojai in Southern California.

FIRST AID COURSES

Ted Bergquist of Big Sur, a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross, in which office Mr. Bergquist serves as a liaison between the Carmel chapter and his own special field of interest—that of Big Sur and surrounding areas—has begun another first aid course, this one is being given at Pacific Valley, 30 miles south of Big Sur, to ten members of that community. It was started on Saturday morning, two weeks ago, a few hours after Bergquist had answered an ambulance call that came as a result of an accident at Bixby Creek which involved two young women from the State of Washington. For some time Mr. Bergquist has been a Red Cross worker and has given many standard and advanced first aid courses, assisted in numerous rescues and ambulance calls, and is ever on an around-the-clock alert to voluntarily serve the needs of the members of the community.

Suburban Council Replaces Carmel Unincorporated

Carmel Unincorporated, for the past 26 years an organization of property owners in the county areas adjacent to Carmel, was disbanded on September 22. Members present on that date decided that, since separate property owners groups exist in each of the areas previously represented collectively by Carmel Unincorporated, the parent organization had greatly outlived its usefulness.

Monday evening, Thomas K. Perry of Hatton Fields, president of the disbanded organization, opened a meeting in Carmel Rancho community room, then relinquished the chair to Harold C. Arnot of Carmel Point, chairman pro tem of a new organization, the Carmel Suburban Council.

This council will fulfill Carmel Unincorporated's role in respect to dealing with matters common to all the county areas adjacent to Carmel.

John S. Coates of Carmel Woods was appointed chairman of an organizational committee for the council. This committee will ask all the separate property owners groups to send delegates to a meeting on October 26, 7:30 p.m. in the Carmel Rancho community room, also prepare an agenda and plan the formal organization of Carmel Suburban Council.

Two residents of Mission Fields, Tom Brown and Sergeant Robert Gilmour, left the meeting Monday night when Chairman Arnot opposed the listing of annexation as an objective of the new council. Both men are proponents of their area annexing to Carmel.

YOUTH ORCHESTRA AUDITIONS AND REHEARSAL

The Monterey County Symphony's Youth Orchestra will resume activities on October 10, according to Conductor John Gosling.

The orchestra's first general rehearsal of the season will take place in the Monterey High School music building at 10 a.m. New players may audition there at 9 a.m.; returnees need not tryout again.

Prospective orchestra members must be prepared with a selection and will also be tested for sight reading ability. Only percussion and string bass instruments will be provided.

BUS SERVICE

This week Carmelites have been telephoning the Pine Cone to find out whether or not the Bay Rapid Transit Company plans to eliminate Monterey-Carmel bus service in the evenings.

Joe Miller, Monterey manager for the bus company, told the Pine Cone on Tuesday that his company is planning to cut back some of the Monterey-Carmel bus runs, but curtailment, as yet, "is still in the planning stage."

Mr. Miller added that the evening runs to Carmel at 8:30, 10 and 11 p.m. are little used, also the runs back to Monterey at 8:45, 10:15 and 11:15 p.m.

The last bus that comes to Carmel and goes around town leaves Monterey at 7:15 p.m. During the daytime, buses come to Carmel from Monterey on an average of every 85 minutes, Mr. Miller said.

He added that the public will be given ten days notice before any runs are eliminated.

Final decision on what runs will be stopped may be made "in as short a time as a week, or may take longer," he stated.

of the county participated in the orchestra last season and Mr. Gosling hopes to have equally good representation this year. The program is presented in cooperation with the county's various school districts and provides training not now available as part of the regular school curriculum.

Gold Coast Troupers In 136th Production At First Theatre

Dastardly deeds and virtue victorious form the plot of "From Rags to Riches" which opens tomorrow night at California's First Theatre in Monterey. This production will be the 136th given by the Troupers of the Gold Coast in the historic building at the corner of Pacific and Scott streets.

The author of "From Rags to Riches", Charles Taylor, mixed together one poisoning, one kidnapping, one opium peddler, a "woman no better than she should be," two long-lost children, a falsely accused and imprisoned man and a ne'er do well nephew with a large portion of

New Symphony Concert Master Is George Nagata

An award winning violinist, George Nagata, has been appointed as concertmaster of the Monterey County Symphony. He will succeed David Abel, whose concert and recital schedule has made it impossible for him to continue his duties with the local orchestra.

Mr. Nagata, whose appearance on the Carmel Music Society series last season was enthusiastically received, has also performed extensively in many other West Coast communities. As soloist with the San Francisco Symphony he performed in Youth Concerts in 1954 under the direction of Earl Murray; as Symphony Foundation soloist in 1955 with Enrique Jordá; and twice with the Summer Pops orchestra with Arthur Fiedler.

His concert and recital engagements have also included appearances in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, Palo Alto, Stockton, Modesto and Fresno.

Born in Tokyo, Japan, in 1935, he began his musical studies at the age of six with Anna Bubanova, a protege of Leopold Auer. After coming to the United States in 1948 he continued his studies with the renowned violinist and teacher, Naoum Blinder, concertmaster emeritus of the San Francisco Symphony. In 1961 he graduated with honors from the University of the Pacific.

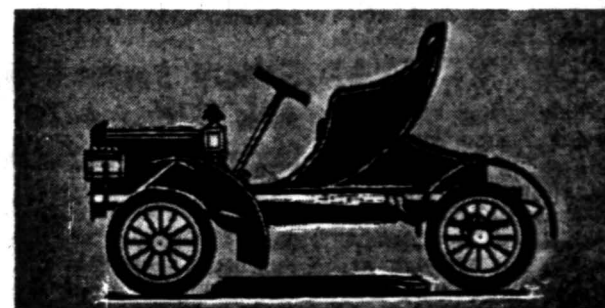

A seasoned concertmaster despite his youth, Mr. Nagata has served in this position with the 7th Army Symphony in Europe, the San Jose, Stockton and University of Pacific orchestras.

In addition to his duties with the Monterey County Symphony he is presently a member of the San Francisco Symphony and a faculty member of Notre Dame College, Belmont.

Irish humor, then stirred the ingredients well and topped off his dramatic creation with three murders and a big dash of swiftly rendered justice. This stage piece de resistance was written for the 1886 season but will get a fine 1964 serving tomorrow and every Friday and Saturday nights through November 28. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. and reservations may be made by telephoning 375-4916.

School Board Will Ask Citizens To Improve Curricula

(Continued From Page One) parent. However, the board noted that two or three years ago, a similar citizens committee recommended a program for improving reading and mathematics curricula. These recommendations have been largely adopted and proved valuable.

It is the board's opinion, that another committee, divided into subcommittees to work on various branches of the education program, might be most beneficial.

These subcommittees, each assigned a separate curriculum, would make use of the abundant talent and experience of persons living in the Carmel district and be of paramount importance to the educational system, the board agreed.

Supervisor Tells Trustees Crossing Guard Is 'Dead End'

(Continued From Page One) tend Carmel Junior High School. At its last meeting, the board decided to explore possibilities of employing a crossing guard at the Atherton-Highway One intersection for one hour before school opening when traffic on the highway is at a peak.

Because, through the efforts of Supervisor Hudson, a pedestrian path on the east side of Highway One has been bulldozed, the school board this fall eliminated bus transportation to the junior high for students living in subdivisions on either side of the highway south of Carmel High School. This action was in compliance with the board's policy to provide no bus service for students living within two miles of the school they attend.

The board, also Superintendent Medill Bair, have received complaints from parents that this path is dangerous. These complaints led to the board's considering employing a crossing guard.

HEART GROUPS MERGE

Central Mission Trails Heart Association is a new organization resulting from the merger of separate heart associations in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties. The office of the merged association is at 531 Hartnell Street in Monterey. John R. Johnson is the executive director.

Elected to the board of directors of Central Mission Trails Heart Association from the Monterey Peninsula are Peter J. Ferrante, Dr. Donald F. Taugher, Dr. Mast Wolfson, Reverend S. R. Martin, Colonel Raymond W. Blohm, Captain Robert Parsons, Dr. Donald M. Scanlon, Stanley S. Simonson and Mrs. R. H. Merritt.

Dr. David Thorngate of Monterey is the first president of the new association. Mrs. W. Ray True of Carmel is secretary.

Columbia Pictures Is Filming Story By Carmel Writer

Columbia Pictures has started filming "The Ballad of Cat Ballou," a story written by the late Roy Chanslor of Carmel.

Jane Fonda will play the part of the heroine Roy created—Cat Ballou, a young girl of the Old West in the 1890s.

Dwayne Hickman will have the male lead role. Harold Hecht will produce the picture and Elliott Silverstein will direct it.

Roy wrote "The Ballad of Cat Ballou" in the home he shared with his wife, Elayne, on Carmel Point. During the two years before Roy's death in April of this year, the Chanslors spent the major part of their time in Southern California where Roy was associated with the motion picture industry for over 30 years. Mrs. Chanslor, following her husband's death, returned to live permanently in their home here.

Roy Chanslor was a creative writer who had others of the many books he wrote produced as motion pictures. Among them was "Johnny Guitar," starring Joan Crawford, and for which Roy also wrote the movie script. Before that, Paul Muni starred in Roy's "Hi-Nellie." Another of his books made into a motion picture, was "Hazard." In addition to these, Roy Chanslor accumulated over 50 credits from every major movie studio.

Of interest, Mrs. Chanslor says, is the fact that he several times spoke of Jane Fonda as an actress he thought capable of playing the part of his Cat Ballou when the picture would be made . . . and his wish has come true.

Spanish Dignitary Coming To Carmel

On a tour of the United States, Spain's minister of information, holding the diplomatic rank of counsellor of embassy, Don Manuel Fraga Iribarne, will be in Carmel on October 24 and 25.

Sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Monterey Peninsula, he will make an address at a dinner to be held at Neptune's Table on the evening of October 24. The dinner will be open to the public and reservations may be obtained through Mrs. Howard Clark, council president.

The distinguished visitor will attend a solemn high mass at the Carmel Mission Basilica on October 25.

While this is his first visit to Carmel, he will not come as a stranger. It was in Majorca, during Carmel's former Mayor Eben Whittlesey's visit there that Spain's minister of information and Mr. Whittlesey met. Their friendship has continued through correspondence and Mr. Whittlesey has been largely responsible in making arrangements for the weekend program.

Daisy Bostick, who knew Carmel before most of us even heard of it, has sent me some valuable information which I'm passing on to all persons who love deer but hate to have their gardens just be a meal for four-footed friends. Here is Daisy's advice given in her own inimitable way.

THE SAGA OF THE RETREATING DEER

This story began about 25 years ago. Or was it 30? Or 50? I was calling on the Seidenicks who lived up Carmel Valley. They escorted me over their place and when we reached the patio I was ecstatic about the blossoming flowers.

Catherine remarked, "The deer were eating the plants faster than we could plant them. It was terrible! Nothing but bare stems every morning. But there came a time when there wasn't a trace of them. The only foreign substance in the patio was my old robe which I had thrown across the swing and forgotten to take into the house."

George interrupted, "We have never seen a deer on our property since then. But we are playing it safe. The robe still guards the property every night."

My new friends, the Smiths, have built a magnificent home on the edge of Carmel overlooking the Valley. When I was entertained by them recently, they were lamenting the destruction caused by the deer.

I recalled Catherine's remedy urer.

The executive committee of the organization is composed of Jack Chalkley, Dr. Osman H. Hull, H. William Monroe, Mrs. Gloria Souther, Dr. F. Hilton Smith, W. C. Phelps, Dr. George Thorngate IV, and Colden O. Whitman.

Carmel members of the board of directors are Mrs. Rody Brunn Holt, Donald R. Lamar, Mrs. Richard L. Murtland, Dr. Peter H. C. Mutke and Donald F. L. Wald.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone and said, "Try leaving a brightly-colored house-garment in a prominent place over night."

That was several months ago and they report that they haven't seen a single evidence of a deer since. Mrs. Smith says that a couple of worn-out sweaters did the trick.

A friend of mine thinks there is a scent or aroma surrounding a person and that animals detect it. That might bear investigation.

Maybe one deer said to his pal, "Sniff this, Stuffy. Where do you think that came from?"

His friend sniffed critically, then pranced about, calling, "It's human. It's people." I'm getting out."

And from the other one, "So am I. And we must tell our friends. Whee! That scent. It must be a new kind of perfume. It's human all right."

So they scampered away and that was the end of the saga.

Maybe other Carmelites have suggestions about preserving gardens. Perhaps, someone knows how to outsmart gophers. I'd love to hear from them. Of course, being a pine nut, my personal problem is squirrels. So far I've outwitted them but I lead a lively life.

Next week is National Highway Week and National Fire Prevention Week. BE DOUBLY CAREFUL.

Letter To Editor

PRICE CONTROVERSY
September 16, 1964

Dear HWF:

It will be most interesting to hear what the general responses are, if any. Of course there is not a way of telling, but this may very well become a hornet's nest. Please do not consider this as getting in a last word. It struck me, and I may very well be wrong, that your article was written in good faith and somewhat objectively—my letter had the same basis, however, I don't think your reply was basically fair. Comparisons based upon many thousands of miles are hardly fair. A comparison within 125 miles I think is.

Adult admission to any first run Berkeley movie is $1.50. I have no objection to $1.75 in Carmel, however to pay $1.75 for a child's ticket to me is very unreasonable. Please let's not get into a discussion of what movie is suitable for a child as that becomes highly personal. I will go along with you on the haircut, being quite bald in the ten minutes it takes and even the $1.80 in Berkeley is amazing and I am sorry I won't grow a beard.

Now we come to the major issue. I thought that there was a general national figure on basic stock items, but evidently not so with Carmel. The difference—the price of $1.67 including tax and 97 cents including tax was for exactly the same size, volume, and shape of plastic bottle both with their little stick-on stickers.

There are many, many other items we have become aware of over the years even to the fundamentals of basic, standard cans of cat food—all the way through adding, adding, adding for Carmel. One thing though that Berkeley all in all simply cannot touch upon and that is the courtesy, pleasantness, and friendliness that is over and over again encountered in the Carmel shops.

Sincerely,
Henry Hill, AIA

Thank you, Mr. Hill, for your friendly letter, which is in decidedly less belligerent tone than yours in our issue of September 10, you must admit. However, as to basic stock items you mention, we can cite our local Safeway store which sold a two-pound can of Folger's coffee for $1.57 last week-end. If you will consult the Safeway ads in San Francisco of last Wednesday, September 16, you will note that the price up there was at least twenty cents higher. There are other items, too, we can mention. Suffice it to say that picking individual items for comparison is pointless, because of the trade practice of advertising "leads" which attract buyers. A can of a certain cat food may be two for $5.00 one day, and the next day it is advertised at three for 44¢, and all in the same store. But, as you say, in effect, it is "only in Carmel" that we get the "courtesy, pleasantness, and friendliness" which mean more to Carmel residents than a penny here and a nickel there. Yes, we did get some nasty responses to your letter, but we agree with you—let's not get personal.

PATIENCE BUILT
SHELL STATION

"The station that patience built" is the description of Carmel's newest gas station contained in the August edition of "Tidings," a Shell Oil Company publication. The article continues by stating that patient cooperation between the city council, planning commission and representatives of the oil company resulted in an "exception to the rule in station design."

The station, situated at San Carlos and Fifth, also was granted a "Permit Number One" under a new zoning ordinance which was a consequence of the patient exploration and decisions made by the city and the company, the article emphasizes. The station opened early this year under the management of Hood. The buildings were designed by Burde, Shaw Associates, Carmel architectural firm.

Residential Construction Ahead Of Business Building This Year

In one respect . . . building . . . Carmel is carrying out the policy stated in the preamble to the city's zoning ordinance . . . at least during the first eight months of this year.

This preamble states that Carmel is "to be primarily, essentially and predominantly a residential city wherein business and commerce have been in the past, are now, and are proposed to be in the future subordinated to its residential character."

A visit, this week, to Building Inspector Richard Thomas's office revealed some interesting statistics in this respect. Despite large commercial developments such as the shops and restaurant now being constructed in the block fronting on Ocean between San Carlos and Mission, also a shop-office development on the west side of San Carlos just below Ocean now near completion, and a recently opened court complex, The Mall, on San Carlos above Sixth, residential building in the first eight months of 1964 has exceeded all building in the business district by $189,779.

Since December, 1963, building permits have been issued for construction in the residence and business districts amounting to 1,248,232.

During the same period, new construction in the commercial one amounted to $452,800; new building in the residence zone totaled $529,550.

In the business district permits were issued by the building inspector for remodeling and additions worth $43,378. In the residence zone similar construction came to $156,407.

In addition to the above, permits were also issued for a Sunday School addition to the Carmel Presbyterian Church, $66,000, also remodeling a clubhouse, $100. Both these permits were for construction in the residential zone, but these amounts are not included in the residential-business building comparison.

Income to the city for building, electrical and gas permits required for the construction in both residential and commercial zones since January 1 is $4,685.70.

Permits for new commercial construction since December include several large developments. These are The Mall, $72,700, constructed by Walsh-Fletcher Enterprises; six shops and a restaurant, Carmel Commercial Properties, $216,000; shops and offices, Dale Vandervort, $40,000; eight units at Harold Painter's Wayside Inn, $123,000.

New residences constructed so far this year amount to 23.

Dorothy Atwood McDermott (above) has been named director of nurses at Community Hospital, Administrator Thomas E. Tonkin announces. She has been acting director since the death of Miss Elizabeth Kynaston.

Mrs. McDermott, a graduate in nurses' training of St. Mary's Help Hospital, San Francisco, moved to the Peninsula in 1954 and was appointed a staff nurse at Community Hospital. A year and a half later she was promoted to be assistant to the late Miss Kynaston. She and her husband, Michael, have one child, also named Michael, who is three months old.

The Francesca Trio Gives First Performance Here

A new chamber music group has appeared on the musical horizon—The Francesca Trio. It comprises three brilliant young virtuosi of the San Francisco Bay area; David Abel, violin, Bonnie Hampton, cello, and Mathan Schwartz, piano. They have spent intensive hours of preparation for a fall concert tour, many of them in the music room of the H.M.M. Nicholas home on Hatton Fields Mesa.

There, on September 19 in the late afternoon, the trio played a program of Mozart, Brahms and Beethoven trios for a small audience, which however, represented in depth the local lovers of music. There was Mrs. Charles E. Dowdell, who with her late husband the beloved Reverend "Peter" Dowdell, has been a generous patron of music for many years; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klene without whom no musical event would be complete; Mrs. Charles Trumbly, hostess extraordinary to countless young artists;

Michel MacKay, managing director of the Carmel Bach Festival; Kenneth Ahrens, organist and director of the Bach Festival Chorus; Mrs. Fritz Wurzmahn, president of the Carmel Music Society; Angie Machado (this last spring officially designated a master teacher); Fred Schaad who plays duo piano repertoire with Miss Machado; Marie Sale and Leo Stuckens, violinists in the Monterey County Symphony; Mrs. Theodore Marburg, who before moving to Carmel Valley Manor held many intimate musicales in her home; and to complete the roster, Camille (Mrs. Joey) Olaeta, the Peninsula's top performing pianist, who graciously filled in as page turner for the trio.

The Francesca Trio has achieved a truly remarkable blend of tone and ensemble, and performs with superb musicianship. For those who love the cello, one could ask for nothing more soul-satisfying than the rich pure tone which Mrs. Hampton draws from her priceless Amati instrument, and this is fully complemented by the golden sheen of Mr. Abel's Guarnerius. The piano provides the catalyst which draws the ensemble into a cohesive whole, and Schwartz's exquisitely sensitive playing, brilliant when required, and retiring into the total concept otherwise, was the very model of chamber playing.

At the concert's end, the guests moved outside onto the terrace to sip champagne and sample delicacies in a perfect Carmel twilight—the sun setting in the ocean in a soft rosy glow as a full silver moon rose over the hills of Carmel Valley and the blue shadows of fast approaching night deepened. The whole happy occasion was Carmel at its artistic and friendliest best against a background of unsurpassed beauty. One was reminded of the lady in Boston, who, when asked if she liked to travel replied "But why should I when I am already there?" Surely, everyone felt, on that incomparable Saturday that

Fire Stations To Collect Toys For Christmas Bureau

The Monterey Peninsula Christmas Bureau announces that new and repairable toys may be left at the Carmel, Carmel Valley and Carmel Highlands fire stations, as well as other fire stations on the Peninsula. These toys, as well as food and clothing, will be given to needy families at Christmas time.

No help is available for extensive repairs to toys, so used playthings left at the fire stations should be in fairly good condition.

However, the U.S. Air Facility will repair tricycles and bicycles for the Christmas Bureau. Donations of parts as well as bikes and trikes will be appreciated.

Persons who wish to give toys are asked to take them to the fire station nearest their home as soon as possible.

Persons who do not have toys, but who wish to help the Christmas Bureau may donate money or trading stamps. The latter will be exchanged for new toys. Mrs. Richard Still, 10 Calle de los Amigos, Pacific Grove, is the Christmas Bureau's treasurer. Her telephone number is 372-1330.

Leslie is a former northern California driver of the year.

HERE'S WHAT PROPOSITION 17, THE "SKELETON-CREW" SCHEME, WOULD DO:

WIPE OUT public supervision of railroad safety in California ☐ DEPRIVE the Public Utilities Commission and the Legislature of their rights to protect public safety ☐ KILL California's Minimum Safe Crew Law ☐ LEGALIZE "skeleton crews" ☐ SURRENDER to the railroads control over train safety practices ☐ FREEZE into the State Constitution the sole right of the railroads to decide safe crew requirements ☐ PERMIT the railroads to put their profits before your safety ☐ INCREASE sharply the chance of disastrous train wrecks in California.

[FOR THE RECORD: PRESIDENTS EISENHOWER, KENNEDY AND JOHNSON HAVE ALWAYS SUPPORTED RAILROAD SAFETY LAWS—the California Minimum Crew Law is just such a safety measure!]

On election day, Tuesday, Nov. 3rd, the railroad companies are asking you, the people of California, to vote away your rights as citizens...to hand over to the railroads full power to decide the number of train crewmen necessary for public safety.

This vital control over railroad safety laws is now held by your elected State Legislature and by the Public Utilities Commission. Proposition 17, the "skeleton-crew scheme" sponsored by the powerful California Railroad Association, would repeal California's Minimum Crew Law—a safety law which has prevented untold loss in lives and property...and given California one of the best railroad safety records in the nation.

At the same time, Prop. 17 would eliminate public supervision of railroad safety in California. It would leave the railroads completely free to cut the size of train crews as they see fit...below the present safe minimums now prescribed by law. In short, it would leave the question of public safety vs. private profit solely in the hands of the railroads.

HOLMAN'S 73rd ANNIVERSARY SALE

NOW IN PROGRESS

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

This is a good week for books. There are even a couple of good novels. Catherine Gavin who wrote THE CACTUS AND THE CROWN has a new one entitled THE FORTRESS. The time is that of the Crimean War. The main character is a young American sailor who fell in love with a Finnish girl and joined the British Navy to help defeat the Russians and win the girl. THE FORTRESS is a big book, one for a week rather than a week-end.

John Gunther, who wrote all the "insides," has a new novel called THE LOST CITY. It is about Vienna in the 1930's and a group of newspaper people who were living there at the time. The author says that the time and the city, with its sights and sounds, are all real. The people and the situations are all fictional. However, the plot is based upon an actual event. This too, is a big book. After all, it may be that learning speed reading is a defense mechanism. If the trend toward bigger novels continues we shall develop into a race of people with huge shoulder muscles from holding big books, and with eyes that flick back and forth continuously from instantaneous reading.

How to improve your complexion may be important to you, and if this is so, the answer could be in 1001 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS TO YOUR SKIN PROBLEMS. It is by Dr. Sidney Robbins, and others. We have had several of these 1001 questions books. The thing to do, if you aren't intent upon reading the entire book, is to use the contents list. While we are on the subject of diseases and doctors, we have a new book by Dr. Harold Brun which is called OUR MOST INTERESTING DISEASES. This is a book written for the layman who is interested in browsing around through our common diseases or perhaps for someone who has one of these diseases and wishes to know a little more about what is troubling him.

Charles Sopkin has a book just out about a group of men who have made millions of dollars and seemingly lived to talk about it. The book is entitled MONEY TALKS! and if you are interested in what these people think about money and how to make it, this book is for you. Me, I simply couldn't care less, and I won't read it. You read it.

A book we had a great many requests for, and so we got a copy from the county library to satisfy these requests, is called HARLOW and is by Irving Shulman. It is the life story of Jean Harlow, the motion picture actress.

A diametrically opposite subject might be the next book, which is a compilation edited by a group of men headed by Louis K. Wechsler. It is entitled COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS and is an almost frightening array of examinations for various colleges.

Hubert Humphrey has a book now called THE CAUSE IS MAN-KIND. He discusses "a liberal program for modern America" in an outspoken and eloquent manner. With all of us interested in politics this year, we have a new third edition of a small book called CALIFORNIA GOVERNMENT AND POLITICS by Winston Crouch of the University of California faculty. It would appear that all the answers are in this book, and as a result we should have bought it in hard covers instead a paperback.

New books, some worthwhile and some not, but all interesting!

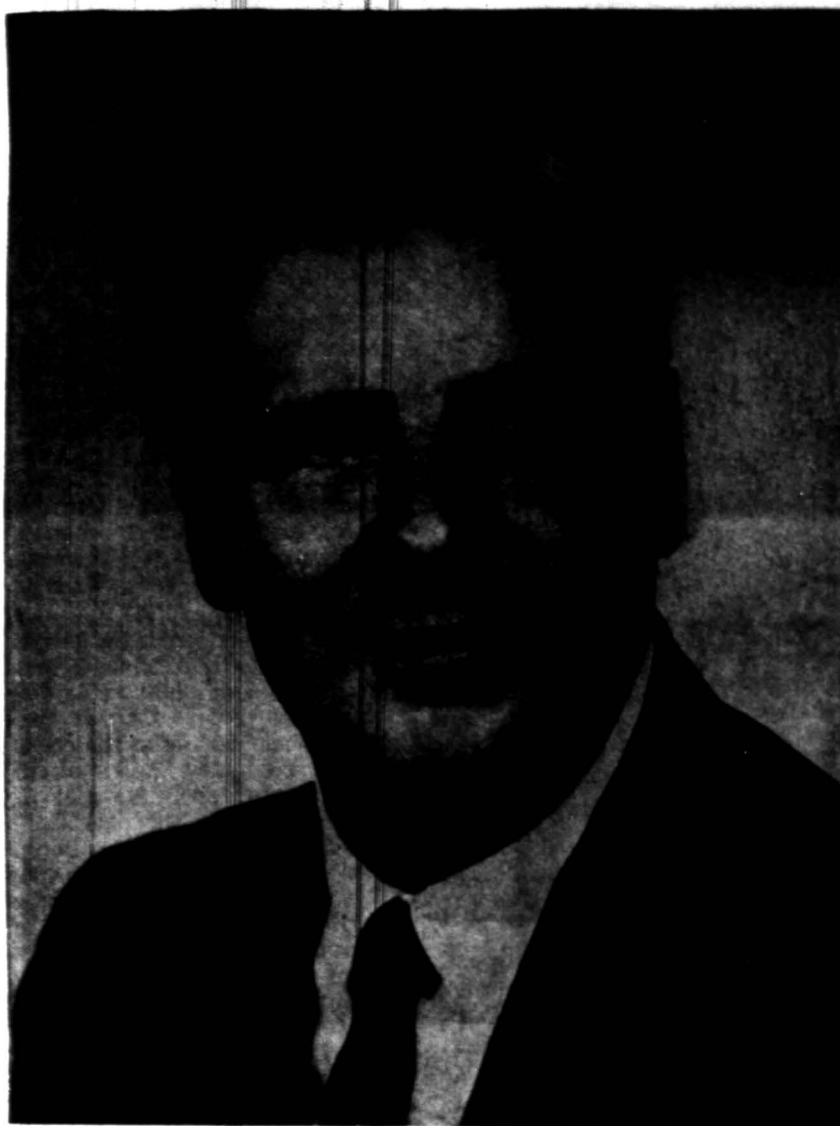

'Mr. Yosemite' Is Depicted In New Sierra Club Book

GALEN CLARK, YOSEMITE GUARDIAN, by Shirley Sargent; published by Sierra Club, August 31, 1964.

The publication of Galen Clark's biography this year coincides with the centennial of the Act of Congress which ceded Yosemite and the Mariposa Grove of Big Trees to California for use as a state park. And one hundred years ago this September, California's Governor Low appointed an eight-man Board of Commissioners to administer Yosemite, of which Clark was named a member.

Born in Quebec and raised in New Hampshire, Clark came to California in 1853 and visited Yosemite for the first time in 1855. Next year, at the age of 42, Clark had a severe attack of tuberculosis and "was given up to die any hour." His doctor said a mountain climate might possibly save him, and Clark returned to Yosemite "to take my chances of dying or growing better." The rest of Clark's life—54 more years of it—centered about the Yosemite Valley and its subsequent development and perpetuation as a park.

Galen Clark was Yosemite's first full-time, salaried Guardian for 14 years. In addition to the tasks that have occupied his successors—protecting the park and its visitors, building and maintaining roads and trails, and so on—Clark had

William B. Brown (above) has been appointed division manager of the Monterey office of the Prudential Insurance Company's San Jose agency. He will join Willard Branson who has been division manager in charge of the local office since 1962.

Bill Brown was born in Piedmont. When his mother, Mrs. Florence Sharon Brown, moved to Carmel, Bill attended school here. Later he was a student at the University of California, Berkeley. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1942-46 and was discharged with the rank of Major. His sister is Mrs. James Doud.

Bill has a daughter, Sharon. He and his wife, Carol, have a home on Meadows Road in Carmel Valley.

STAMP CLUB

The Carmel Junior Stamp Club meets each Saturday 10-11:30 a.m., in the library of All Saints' Episcopal Church which is entered from Lincoln Street.

All old members are urged to participate in the 1964-65 series of meetings, weekly discussions and trading. New members will be welcomed, also adults who would like to attend.

the delicate assignment of disposing original settlers who considered the Valley their own personal property, at a time when there was no precedent for a national park and no conservation tradition to speak of.

Shirley Sargent, like Clark, has spent most of her life in Yosemite. She is the author of a Yosemite history, "Wawona's Yesterdays," as well as a number of children's books.

SKI CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

The Carmel Ski Club will hold its first meeting of the 1964-65 ski season this evening at 8 o'clock in the Don Room of the Hotel San Carlos in Monterey.

Following the business meeting there will be a social hour for prospective members to meet club officers and current members.

The club plans to hold or participate in a major event each month. Some of these functions will include a club-sponsored ski movie produced and narrated by Dick Barrymore in November; a wine-tasting and fashion show in December; and several inter-club and dual club races at Dodge Ridge after Christmas.

Pamela Petersen, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard C. Petersen, has arrived in Spain where she will spend her senior college year majoring in history, art and Spanish at the University of Madrid, but will, however, receive her degree from the University of California. Pam completed her junior year in June on the UC Davis campus and was one of the Davis students selected to study in Spain under the UC program for study abroad.

Pam's sister, Susan, and her husband, Paul Jones Jr., have moved to a new home in Redwood City. Paul plans to attend San Jose State College and continue his engineering major studies in January. He, previously, has been a student at California State Polytechnic College.

Mrs. King Busy

Mrs. K. J. King (Judith Mary) who has just opened her new studio in Carmel Plaza, will be in Santa Rosa next Tuesday and Wednesday. She has been invited by the Santa Rosa Community Hospital Auxiliary to act as consultant in the planning of their gift shop.

On Monday afternoon, October 26, Mrs. King will give a talk and demonstration of floral arrangements in the home before members of the Carmel Woman's Club.

The Kings came to Carmel from Denver two years ago, when Mr. King, a mining and construction engineer, retired. They purchased the former home of decorator, Gladys Kiplinger, on Monte Verde at Eleventh.

Guest Of The Dixons

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dixon have been entertaining for their houseguest, Miss Madge Dixon of Sierra Madre, Mr. Dixon's sister, who has been here for the past two weeks. The trio spent a long week-end at Lake Tahoe, stopping in Mariposa to visit Mr. Dixon's nephew.

Visit Here Ends

A summer-long houseguest of her son and daughter-in-law, the Henri Corbats, Madame Maria Corbat will leave Carmel next week to return to her home in Bienne, Switzerland.

The center of Switzerland's watch making industry, Bienne has been the home of the Corbats for generations. Henri's grandfather and father, renowned for their skill, passed their knowledge along, encouraging the young man to attend the Horological Institute of Switzerland, from which he graduated before coming to the United States.

It was in 1954 that Henri met and married Allano Smith of Fresno. Two years ago the Corbats came to Carmel, and Henri opened a shop here.

The Corbats have two small daughters, Chantal and Lucette, who attend River School.

Bob Little Wed

Dorothy Jean Boysel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Boysel of Garden Grove, California, and Robert Vernon Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little of Carmel, were married in St. James' Episcopal Church, Newport Beach, on August 29, in a double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Italian silk linen with lace bodice and tiered train and an elbow-length veil held by a jeweled crown of aurora borealis and pearls. Her bridal bouquet of white stephanotis was centered with a white orchid which she later wore as a corsage with her travel ensemble.

Nancie Jacobs of Los Angeles, as maid of honor, wore a full-length satin dress of blue, shaded light to dark, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums in matching shades.

Bridesmaids were Ann Boysel, sister of the bride; also Sue Gauthier of Newport Beach and Sharon McGee of Los Alamitos, former schoolmates of the bride. Their satin dresses were in varying shades of green and their bouquets repeated the shades.

The colors of the attendants' dresses were chosen by Dorothy for sentimental reasons—blue being the color of Bob's birthstone, and green, her own.

Bob had his brother, Matt, as best man. Ushers were Bruce Gamble of Tucson, Arizona, Robert Champion of Menlo Park and Jim Miles of Carmel.

Mrs. Boysel wore a beige knit suit with matching accessories and a corsage of orchids for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Little's beige brocade dress carried out the bride's requested color scheme.

Dorothy and Bob cut their four-tiered wedding cake at the champagne reception that followed the ceremony.

For their honeymoon at Laguna Beach, the bride chose a beige knit suit and a flowered hat for travel.

The young couple will live in San Francisco until Bob finishes his course in hotel and restaurant management at San Francisco City College in February. They plan to make Carmel their permanent home.

Dorothy graduated from Los Alamitos High School and completed her junior college year at the University of Santa Barbara last June. She is a member of Alpha Delta Phi sorority.

Bob attended Carmel elementary school and graduated from Carmel High School with the class of 1961. He spent one year at the University of Montana before transferring to San Francisco City College.

Art News

A new monthly exhibit by artist members of the Carmel Art Association will open on October 8 and continue on display until November 5. Marjorie Allen will be the chairman of the hanging committee for this show. During the final week of the exhibition, rental pictures and sculpture will be shown in the Beardsley Room.

Applications for membership in the association will be considered at the board of directors meeting in November. Interested artists may complete the form showing residence and background, also submit three works of art plus three drawings, and these will be considered by the board next month.

The Carmel Board of Realtors this week became a sponsor of the Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts. The board made a generous donation to support the organization which has headquarters on Lincoln Street south of Ocean. The AFA also maintains a gallery at the same location and brings to Carmel outstanding exhibits in many media of the arts.

By its contribution to support this non-profit organization, the Carmel Board of Realtors joined other sponsors in the commercial category which embraces donations from businesses that realize the importance of the AFA to Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula.

Elise deCelles Beaton, member of the Carmel Art Association and the Society of Western Artists, will have a one-man show of her paintings done last summer in the "ghost towns" of Oregon at Carmel Foundation Town House. The exhibit will be on view during the month of October, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays and 2-4 p.m. on Sundays. Town House is closed on Saturdays.

Mrs. Beaton will speak on Wednesday afternoon, the day of the show's opening. All interested persons are invited to her talk at 3 p.m., also to the opening tea to follow at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Beaton is a graduate of Northwestern University, with an M.A. from The University of California. After her career of teaching in Monterey and Carmel, she turned to full time painting. She has studied under Armin Hansen, John and Patricia Cunningham, Rosamond Colome, Richard Yip, and Eliot O'Hara.

Joyce Jenkins, Pebble Beach artist, has been selected as an Artist of the Month at the Santa Cruz Art League Gallery. The artist's works are also being shown at the 7th Annual Delta Art Show in Antioch and the Lodi Grape Festival Exhibit in Lodi.

Watercolors by Michele Cascelia, an Italian painter, are on exhibit at the Laky Galleries, San Carlos above Sixth, until October 5.

Results of the open show held in conjunction with the Monterey Jazz Festival are as follows: Painting, first prize, Joan Savoy; awards of merit, Don Hulphers and Jay Hannah; Collage, William Aiken. Sculpture, first prize, Jim Fosnot. Photography, first prize, Teresa Zabala, award of merit, E. L. Whitwork.

June Braucht, director of the American Federation of Arts gallery in Carmel, was chairman for this show.

Two Carmel photographers won awards in the open division photography competition at the Los Angeles County Fair. They were Phillip B. Smith and Virginia R. Smith.

Mr. Smith's "Shadow Design on Pumpkin" won a gold medal in the pictorial slide class. Virginia Smith received two honorable mentions in the same class for "Blaze of Color" and "Lone Flyer."

An exhibition of recent paintings by Don Clausen will be held October 4-30 at the Castle Art Gallery on East Cliff Drive in Santa Cruz. There will be a preview of the show on Saturday from 7-10 p.m.

Although portraiture was Mr. Clausen's original interest and his portraits of the regents hang at the University of California, Berkeley, he has also attained a major reputation for his landscapes and impressionistic abstracts. Gallery hours are noon-5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

On loan from the Achenbach collection of the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco, 24 hand colored lithographs executed in 1848 by Joseph Nash, English printer and lithographer, who dedicated them to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, are currently on view at the American Federation of Arts Gallery on Lincoln Street.

The 12 by 18-inch lithographs depict exteriors as well as interiors of Windsor Castle. Famous for their minute detail they record court functions and ceremonies, showing traditional uniforms and court dress of the Victorian era.

The exhibit will be on view through October 8, to be followed by the AFA's first competitive exhibition: "Monterey County Painting 1964." Entry blanks are available at the gallery and acceptance dates are October 9 and 10.

Visitors are welcome in the gallery from 11:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday; and 2 p.m.-5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Readings For Next Studio Play Tonight

The Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel announces that open readings will be held this evening, at 7:30 o'clock at the Studio. Producers Betty Hackett and Royden Martin have chosen "A Thousand Clowns" by Herb Gardner, as the second play of their new season.

"A Thousand Clowns" is a comedy filled with laughter and warmth and inspired daffiness. The play proved to be a solid hit with Jason Robards Jr. on Broadway. It played for over 400 performances and was voted one of the ten best plays of 1962.

Excellent acting roles are available including Charlie the Chipmunk, an emcee of a children's T.V. program; Arnold, a man of about 40, a Hollywood agent; Albert, a pompous 28-year-old man, a social worker; Murray, an unemployed T.V. writer. The remaining male role is that of a 12-year-old boy. Sandra, a young and very naive lady of 25, is the one female role in the play.

"A Thousand Clowns" opens the first week of November, and will be directed by Michael Keller.

Condessa de Carmelo

Touched with Carmel magic, the Shelburn Robisons were given remarkable treatment on the trip from which they returned yesterday.

It happened this way—Mr. and Mrs. Robison left Carmel by car about a month ago to place their daughter, Alexandra, in the University of Madrid, where as a junior she will study for her B.A. Alex spent her first two college years at the University of Santa Clara.

Enroute to New York, the Robisons stopped at Fort Huachuca to visit their other daughter, Robin, and her husband James Vaughan who is stationed at the fort.

Traveling on to Washington, where they visited Congress, the Robisons met their first adventure. Bows and salutes on all sides were for Shelburn who, in conversation with a friendly stranger from Missouri, cleared the mystery. Carmel's Attorney Robison looks like Senator Stuart Symington. "Your walk, your smile, too" the man from Missouri said.

The Robisons, Helen, Shelburn and Alex, flew to Europe and reached Madrid after leisurely stops in Ireland, London, Paris, Cologne, Geneva, Rome—and finally Seville.

Dressed in her best even to Carmel's distinctive costume jewelry—a very glittery lapel pin—Mrs. Robison tarried on the patio of a Spanish castle. To her amazement, a castle guard, dressed in his best, gave her a deep and reverent bow. . . . Wherever the Robisons went that day—the bows, the turned heads, the respectful stepping aside continued. "It was great in restaurants," Mr. Robison said, "the maitre d's really threw down the red carpet!"

How come?

It was that Carmel lapel pin! A replica of the crest of Aragon and Castile, so fine a replica, that Mrs. Robison was addressed as "Condessa" wherever she went in Spain, that is, when she wore her "precious" pin.

The Robisons flew home from Lisbon and are quite content to settle down back home again, in democratic Carmel, where their identity is never, never questioned.

Farr Honorary Chairman

State Senator Fred S. Farr of Carmel has accepted U.S. Senator Pierre Salinger's invitation to serve as honorary chairman of the Salinger campaign in the 25th State Senatorial District.

Senator Farr, who has served in the Senate since 1955, will also serve as honorary chairman for President Johnson's campaign in Monterey County. The Senator expressed his "delight" at being asked to assist in the Salinger campaign.

Senator Farr is chairman of the natural resources committee, and member of the agriculture, education, elections, judiciary and legislative representation committees.

Talcott Coffee Hours

While her husband, Congressman Burt L. Talcott, remained in Washington, D.C., until Congress adjourned, Lee Talcott spoke on "Life in Washington" at informal coffee hours on September 21 and 23 in the homes of Mrs. Mark Thomas, Carmel Valley; Mrs. Thomas Edwards, Carmel Highlands; Mrs. George Leutzinger, Hatton Fields; Mrs. Herbert Alward and Mrs. Kuhlman Fluehr, Pebble Beach; Mrs. C. L. Underwood, Carmel Woods; and Mrs. James Parks, Carmel Point.

Plans Went Awry

Unhappy proof of Bobbie Burns' lines, "The best laid schemes o' mice and men gang aft a-gley" came to Mr. and Mrs. Aage Knudsen, owners of Dolores Bakery, two weeks ago, when, with all their plans made for a home visit to Denmark, Mr. Knudsen fell down the stairs of his home and broke his foot.

Because preparation for Christmas in the bakery made postponement of the trip impossible, Mrs. Knudsen left Carmel alone last Sunday. She flew directly to Chicago for a three-day visit with friends then on to New York City where she will emplane tomorrow for Copenhagen.

In Denmark, Mrs. Knudsen will visit her three sisters whom she has not seen for 12 years, and Mr. Knudsen's mother, returning to Carmel in about a month.

At home in Carmel, Mr. Knudsen hopes to have the cast on his foot removed within the next few days, and to be able to walk with the aid of a cane in about three weeks.

New Arrivals

Polly Kepler Firestone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brooks Firestone of Pebble Beach, arrived, September 4, weighing seven pounds, fifteen ounces. Over the past week-end she was visited by her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Firestone of Beverly Hills. She was proclaimed a beauty by her grandmother, for whom she was named.

The entire Carmel High School student body, as well as their adult friends, are congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moody upon the birth of their daughter, Kathryn Ellen, who made her debut September 23, weighing seven pounds, seven ounces. Kathryn is a source of wonder to her sister Lisa, and her two brothers, Douglas and David. Mr. Moody teaches social studies at Carmel High School.

Deckers Off To School

Fred Decker has just returned from Southern California where he was getting the Decker "children" settled in their schools for the winter.

Durell, whose fascinating letters to the Pine Cone describing her world travels were published in 1961 and 1962, is now in her senior year at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Padgett is entering his freshman year at California Western University in San Diego.

The Deckers, for many years popular Carmel residents, now make their home in Corral de Tierra.

Chest Captains

Tuesday morning, volunteers who will act as captains in the residence districts met at the home of Mrs. John Ruster, Carmel residential area chairman for the Community Chest fund campaign.

They were Mrs. Robert Work, Mrs. Howard V. Stewart, Mrs. James C. Hill, Mrs. June Harris, Mrs. Elaine Whitaker, Mrs. F. K. Duhring, Mrs. Ted Anderson and Malcolm Steel.

Also Mrs. R. W. Hirschkind, Mrs. George G. Purvis, Mrs. Richard Bell, Mrs. James F. Neeson, Mrs. Charles Felder, Mrs. Thomas C. White, Mrs. Ben P. Gleichner, Mrs. Donald Criley, and Mrs. William H. Satchell Jr.

Others were Mrs. Thomas Elston, Miss Eleanor Kerr, Mrs. F. J. Creed, Mrs. Webster Street, Mrs. Garry Anloff, Mrs. Robert E. Price and Brigadier General George D. Wahl.

Republican 'Kick-Off'

All precinct workers of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's clubs on September 24 attended a "kick-off" meeting at the Mark Thomas Inn. Pep talks were given and supplies handed out.

Mrs. Ruth Hitt, former national Republican committeewoman for California, was appointed the "Women for Murphy" chairman for this state. Local "Women for Murphy" chairmen are Mrs. John Clancy, Monterey Peninsula overall chairman; Mrs. C. J. Brocchini, Monterey Bay Republican Women's Club; and Mrs. Robert Mackay Brown, Carmel Republican Women's Club.

Farewell To Cliff Berry

A farewell party, gala in numbers and spirit, but with a tinge of sadness too, was tendered Clifford Berry on Saturday evening by Betty Fowlston and Ruth McElroy, in Mrs. McElroy's home on San Antonio Street.

"Cliff" has been associated with Carmel's Studio Theatre for the past seven years, variously, as production manager, director and actor. Talented, versatile and hard-working, Cliff has answered the call to duty in whatever capacity the theatre's producers, Betty Hackett and Royden Martin, have needed him through the years.

His recent appearance as the mute King Sextimus, the Silent, in "Once Upon a Mattress" was hilarious, and a memorable piece of acting.

Saturday night's party was climaxed by the presentation of a much battered suitcase, festooned with battered labels and "loaded" with violently colored "undies" plus a hot water bottle for Cliff who is bound for southern California, to seek his future fame in the studios of Hollywood.

There were other gifts for him, too, and good wishes from the many friends he has made on the Peninsula.

Cliff, who left Carmel this morning, will be greeted upon arrival in Los Angeles by Jerry De Bone, another ex-Studio Theatre producer-actor of great popularity.

In saying "happy landings" to Cliff on Saturday evening, Mrs. Fowlston concluded, "We know you are going to hit the top, and your success will bring reflected glory to Carmel's Studio Theatre."

McKays Entertain

Music, particularly the 27th annual Carmel Bach Festival in retrospect, was the topic of conversation and happy memories at the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Alastair McKay in their home on Saturday evening. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. Don Parker of Coastlands, who will leave shortly for South America; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bowhay of Pebble Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wurmann of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. Hank Kranzler of Palo Alto. Mr. Kranzler showed his collection of pictures taken during this year's festival, recalling dramatic moments and outstanding personalities. Mrs. McKay (Michel) is managing director of the Carmel Bach Festival and already busy with plans for the 28th annual, scheduled for next July.

Surprise Wedding

Surprising their many friends on the Peninsula, Mrs. Elnora Clay, widow of the late Arthur Clay of Carmel, and Donald L. Haines, widower, of Seattle, Washington, were married in Reno, Nevada, on September 27. The ceremony, with the Reverend William Herring officiating, took place in the Park Wedding Chapel.

Mr. Haines will go to Seattle next week, for a few days, to terminate his business affairs there. In the meantime friends are giving informal cocktail and dinner parties for the newly married couple who will make their permanent home on Forest Road in Carmel.

Mensa Meeting

Members from Santa Cruz, Watsonville and Salinas came to the second Carmel meeting of Mensa at the home of Susan Betz Hoskin last Friday evening. Mensa, the high I.Q. society, is an international organization which admits persons obtaining a score in the upper 2% of the general population on intelligence tests. Local meetings, based in Carmel, will revolve among the homes of members.

Salinger Party

Dr. and Mrs. Scott Heath have sent to friends in the Monterey Bay area invitations to a cocktail party on behalf of Senator Pierre Salinger's campaign. The event will be held in their home on Rotunda Drive in Rancho Rio Vista from 6-8 p.m. on October 9. Assisting Dr. and Mrs. Heath on this occasion will be Pierre's mother, Jeanne Carlson, and her husband, Jerry Carlson, also Dr. and Mrs. Walter Layton and Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Adams.

Receives C.L.U.

A resident of Carmel, John E. Beesley, Monterey district manager of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, on September 23 was awarded a chartered life underwriter designation at national conferment exercises of the American College of Life Underwriters in Cincinnati, Ohio.

PRE-SCHOOL VISION TESTING

The Monterey Society for the Prevention of Blindness will hold free vision screenings for children, age 3-5 years, on Wednesday

New Two-Hour Parking Limits

Police Chief Clyde Klaumann says that on Monday his department will start enforcing new two-hour parking limits in the business district.

Beginning Monday, two-hour parking will go into effect on both sides of San Carlos Street between Fourth and Fifth avenues; both sides of Fifth between San Carlos and Mission; and both sides of Mission between Seventh and Eighth.

Two-hour limits will also go into effect on the north side of Eighth between San Carlos and Mission, also the north side of Seventh between San Carlos and Mission.

from 9:30. to 11:30 a.m. at the Monterey Public Library.

Vision testing of pre-school children is designed to detect muscle imbalance and lack of visual acuity. For further information call Mrs. Dexter Whitcomb, 624-7173.

Mrs. Grigsby's Garden Bench . . . A Tradition That Ends Today

A Carmel community leader for the past three decades, a pioneer in pre-school education, and a hostess whose welcome reaches out to friend and stranger alike, Mrs. Fenton Grigsby's "Come in and Rest Awhile" is a very personal "trademark" that has become, through two decades, a Carmel tradition that will end today.

It was in 1935 that Louise Gorton Grigsby (above), certified elementary and pre-school teacher in Portland, Oregon, came to Carmel to head Forest Hill School, a private elementary school, stressing pre-school work.

Recently widowed, she brought with her two small children, Fenton William and Mary Agnes.

Under Mrs. Grigsby's guidance, the school, having five pupils when she arrived, January 15, 1935 soon had a full quota of 20 students and a long waiting list.

"Kindergarten methods expert, Dr. Wilbur Hollenbeck of Columbia University, sent many of his student teachers to us for observation and college credit," Mrs. Grigsby remembers.

Forest Hill School closed during World War II, and concentrating her interest upon pre-schoolers, Mrs. Grigsby opened the Carmel Pre-School on Mission Street (now operated by Marian Leidig).

Ten years after she arrived in Carmel Mrs. Grigsby, with her two children went to live in their newly acquired home on Casanova Street.

It was then that Mrs. Grigsby made her gesture of friendliness that was to live through 20 years. In her garden, facing Casanova Street, she placed a bench, and above it, the little sign "Come in and Rest A While." The gate was always off the latch.

"Through the years," Mrs. Grigsby tells, "the little bench has welcomed visitors from round the world, and hundreds of Carmelites too . . . young mothers pushing prams—senior citizens strolling our byways—visitors from all parts.

"Often I'd glance out my window and see them sitting there, under the magnolia tree, and it seemed obvious to me a cup of tea was in order.

"I remember one English lady-visitor who caught me napping! She was a guest at La Playa, and every day for several weeks she appeared at precisely three o'clock for her bench-visit. Finally her last day came. She was about to leave Carmel, and she knocked on the door.

"I've enjoyed your garden so much," she said, "but I have missed having my cup of tea!"

I was conscience stricken! From that day forward, when, with the tea hour approaching, Mrs. Grigsby has looked out of her window and seen "benchers" there—her tea kettle has bubbled!

During World War II, the Grigsby garden with its welcome sign became known to, literally, hundreds of enlisted men. It was a spot of quiet beauty where, as one young sailor put it, "A guy can sit and think about home, and not be bothered."

As Carmel grew in popularity as a honeymoon center, brides and bridegrooms sat together on the little bench in blissful isolation.

And Mrs. Grigsby's community interests and services grew and grew. A member of the Daughters of the American Revolution (Louise Gorton Grigsby's family landed in Gloucester Harbor, Massachusetts in 1630); active in the Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross; the Carmel Woman's Club; the Council of Church Women; and numerous other civic and cultural groups; one of Carmel's most hospitable hostesses was also one of its busiest citizens.

In 1955, Mrs. Grigsby built on her adjoining lot on Casanova and moved into her house "next door". The bench moved, too, but it remained accessible as ever.

During the past decade Carmel has grown in sophistication as well as population. Now, weekend evening performances in the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, opposite the Grigsby home, attract many visitors, and, although the bench and the welcome sign are well within the fenced garden, Mrs. Grigsby has answered knocks on her door well into the night. Recently a young couple, dusty from traveling, asked if they might "wash and change" in the house. "They were most polite," Louise Grigsby insists, "but we are not a family anymore . . . and I was a bit shaken."

Fenton Grigsby now lives in San Jose and Mary Agnes is Mrs. F. M. Lansdowne, living with her husband and son in Carmel Valley.

The days of the bench with its heart-warming legend are closing, and Carmel is losing one of its loved citizens.

Louise Gorton Grigsby will become a resident of Carmel Manor, in Carmel Valley, as of today. Perhaps "losing" is just too possi-

Properties in all the four business zones will be burdened with providing all-day parking for the occupants of commercial premises but that this requirement will only apply at this time to new or increased development; (2) this parking must be provided on the development site except in the "core" area; (3) "core" area businesses must provide all-day parking off their sites; (4) floor area will be the basis for determining how much all-day parking should be provided; (5) a formula will be established for payment, deposit, or lien on the property, to assure the means for supplying "in lieu" parking when on-site parking is not required, or permitted, on a site; (6) all on-site and off-site parking facilities be approved by the planning commission's design review board.

Exceptions to any of these requirements will be allowed after a use permit has been obtained from the planning commission was another recommendation adopted last night.

The council will further consider the provisions of the proposed all-day parker ordinance at their December meeting. If at this time, study has resulted in definition of a "core" area and a formula for "in lieu" payments, the council will send the ordinance to the planning commission for public hearings before it becomes law.

If work on the ordinance is not completed by the time the interim law demanding all-day parking for new business developments expires, then the interim ordinance will be extended, the council decided last night.

property owners' pockets from being drained to support a "residential" city.

I do not advocate any change in the preamble to the municipal code but I do think credit should be given where due.

May Carmel businesses continue to thrive and receive appreciation for their contributions to the city's treasury! —M.L.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee." This quotation from Isaiah (26:3) is the central theme of the Bible Lesson to be read at Christian Science churches on Sunday. Also included will be this quotation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human sense may well marvel at discord, while, to a diviner sense, harmony is the real and discord the unreal" (p. 563). Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Unreality."

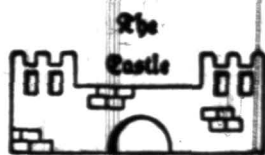

mistic a word.

"The Manor," Mrs. Grigsby states, with many of my Carmel friends living there, is really only a few minutes from the village . . . and it would be too terrible for me, not to be counted a Carmelite, for always."
